The meeting began at 10:15am and ended promptly at 2:00pm

Rick started off by thanking everybody for readjusting their schedules for this rescheduled meeting (due to Hurricane Ivan).

Rick asked that the new System Council members please introduce themselves. Those who were present did so - they were:

- Ulf Kirchdorfer
- Dlynn Armstrong-Williams
- Patrick Brennan
- Peggy Ellington (filling in for Phil Szmedra)

Next the Council Chairs (Saba Jallow, Tracy Harrington, Lynn Fedeli and co Mark Patterson, and Dan Paracka) were introduced.

The meeting was opened to anyone with any announcements to make; and those were:

8. Fort Valley State University recently received funding from USAID/UNCF in Brazil for developing curriculum materials.
9. Georgia College and State University recently received cooperation from the School of International Training .

Rick gave his Director's Report, beginning with the increasing importance of the Charge to the Council (Chapter 8, Page 4 of the Briefing Book). Rick reminded the Council that it is their job to make sure information from meetings and related opportunities reach the people on their individual campuses. The Council members are to:

- Move from a symbolic role to a role requiring that members sign-off on applications (i.e. Chancellor's Award, Best Practices, etc.) - this will advocate and reinforce Council members' role as campus representatives
- Appoint official delegates from their campuses as institution representatives in the World Council
- Join Nancy, Bill, and Jim in their committees (International Students and Scholars, Faculty and Curriculum, and Study Abroad respectively)
- Manage STARS programs at individual institutions
- Report study abroad data (electronic forms will be sent out on Monday 9/27) before October 15, 2004

Tracy Harrington asked (after saying how much he supports the charge) about signing off, and would this new

"increase budgetary resources at the strategic level"

- c. Nancy Shumaker wants to engage upper-level administrators in study abroad programs
- d. Dlynn Armstrong-Williams points out that international studies is being divvied up amongst staff to avoid new positions. She would like to add a goal for centralization . Some problems with centralization surface, so John Hicks suggests the goal be for coordination as GSU for example has experienced decentralization.
- e. Jim Anderson adds that it might be best to say something to the effect of, "generally, centralization works best..."
- f. Gerald McIntosh wants to work toward convincing those involved (i.e. Financial Aid) that not all is against board policy.
- g. Chaudron Gille is experiencing backlash for how expensive international programs are. Some members of the committee agree they've experienced the same while others say they've not experienced this, or have even experienced the opposite.

The Strategic Agenda (see black and white handout) also came out of the retreat.

1. Promote, advocate, and publicize international education

who on campuses (i.e. public relations) or what representatives would be good with this. Good political skills are necessary, and one key would be hitting legislators.

2. Strengthen Communication

role of council as the key source for disseminating and collecting information. Gerald McIntosh asks about moving ad hoc to something more permanent.

3. Strengthen international education partnerships between USG sectors

FY05 Current Budget (see Chancellor's Fiscal Year 2005 Budget Shortfall handout):

$382 million cut in budget reductions

- Probably never again funded: European Union, Latin American Studies scholarships, and Russian Studies scholarships

Preserved :

- STARS (kept at nearly 100%)
- European Council Position
- ISEP Program
- GILC
- SEMAU
- Teaching Symposium
- World Regional Councils and Committees

- Underserved Study Abroad (25%)
- Chancellor's Awards (46%)
- NSEP on-line languages (23%)
- Regional Campus Workshops (67%)

Restoration Priorities (should monies become available):

- Chancellor's Awards
- GLOSSARI
- Advocacy Committee
- STARS

FY05 is bad, but FY06 is worse ...

FY06 System Budget (see Chancellor's handout on Budget Principles)

- Integrating to provide a base of support (in turn reducing vulnerability)

Claude Perkins reiterates what John Hicks has said.

Jim Anderson says we can use less money as an advantage - to see the idea of study abroad rather than selling the scholarships. Jim emphasizes education.

Chris Bourdavalis asks if this Budget fall reflects the economy (and should expect to rise or fall) or thinking on education.

Rick laments that it seems to him to be a new way of looking at education (policy changes). Rick points out that Georgia is said to be moving from "state funded" to "state affiliated."

Other System News :

Right now, there is a Statewide Assessment in which institution names, sectors, and missions are open for official change.

There is new focus on research institutions, and there is talk that Gwinnett State College will join the USG as the 35 th institution.

Those who take advantage of USG's free courses will no longer need to show courses are job related.

There will be a gala in November working as a fund raiser and will:

- stress the foundation has served to raise money for scholarships.
- hope to raise proceeds to fund at least $5000 in scholarships for each USG campus

Atlanta was awarded (CIFAL) as the first North American training center for training local government officials (CIFAL's presence in Atlanta will be a training arm focused on Information and Communication Technologies).

SCIE Meetings:

The retreat resulted in a recommendation for three (shorter) meetings per year including some changes in format.

- Dlynn Williams-Armstrong thinks the SCIE should focus on money-giving groups such as NAFSA
- John Hicks agrees, and suggests further the State Department
- Saba Jallow requests grant writing workshops
- Gerald McIntosh seconds that motion
- Rick says grant writing workshops would be separate from SCIE meetings
- Neal McCrillis suggests other campuses which do well with study abroad/intl students
- Dan Paracka suggests ACE
- Tracy Harrington adds international student sponsor groups (i.e. IREX)

John Hicks introduces to the meeting the Lincoln Scholarship Commission, expressing his belief that it will be funded, and asking how we can link in to it. Rick postpones this discussion until study abroad is discussed after lunch.

World Regional Councils

Rick introduces the 2004-2005 charges to the World Regional Councils. There are proposed new mission statements and by-laws to link the WRC's.
